

The proposed changes to the rules of the airwaves are ridiculous. We do not need more regulations and rules to be imposed on our airwaves, especially for Christian radio, which does not harm anyone. If someone has a problem with Christian music and radio, then they have the option to change the dial. Just as people on other stations are able to play raunchy music or cuss and talk crudely, we as Christians simply choose not to listen to them. No more sanctions should be placed on our radio stations. We began as a Christian nation and we should continue as one.
